OVERLAND ROUTE via TRIESTE

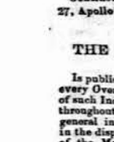
(In direct communication with the P. and O. Co.'s Steamers to Suez.)



THE AUSTRIAN LLOYD'S MAIL STEAMERS leave Alexandria direct for Trieste weekly, immediately after the arrival of the Bombay and Calcutta Mails and Passengers from Suez. The distance between Alexandria and Trieste is 200 miles shorter than that between Alexandria and Marseilles—and is much more agreeable, it being a coasting trip full of variety of beautiful scenery from the Island of Candia to the port of Trieste. The passage occupies only 4½ to 5 days and the Company employ on this line their best Steamers, built expressly for this service, and with special reference to the accommodation and comfort of Passengers, with an experienced Surgeon on board each vessel. At Trieste the traveller to England has an extensive choice of picturesque and interesting routes, occupying from 3 days 6 hours to 5 days to London at an expense varying from £7 to £13.

The railway between Trieste, Calais and Ostend, is complete throughout.

The Custom-house and Pass-port systems have been considerably modified and need not cause any apprehension of being vexatious or inconvenient.

Passengers by the P. and O. Company's Steamers to Suez can have their baggage forwarded by that Company's Steamers to Southampton at a charge of 10s. per cwt., to which the Austrian Lloyd's Agent at Suez will attend.

The undersigned Agents are prepared to grant passage tickets for the Steamers plying between Alexandria and Trieste and for the railway between Suez and Alexandria.

Rates of passage including table and steward's fees from Alexandria to Trieste, first-class £16; second-class £11; children under 10 years at half fare; under 2 years free. Railway tickets from Suez to Alexandria with all the privileges of Passengers by the P. and O. Co., first-class £7, second-class £3 10s.; children over 3 and under 10 years at half fare. For further particulars, apply to A. H. HUSCHKE & Co.,
Agents for the Austrian Lloyd.
Bombay, 27, Medow Street.

NOTICE.

Travellers by the Overland route via Trieste can have their Pass-ports vised for Austria and Prussia by the undersigned.
A. C. GUMPERT,
Consul for Austria and Prussia.
Bombay, 27, Medow Street.

No 213.—The following G

can. The mixture was so complete that it was very difficult to detect it, and for some time it sold at the same price as the pure cotton. Of course the dealers reaped a great advantage by it, for they bought the native seed cotton at 100 Rs. or so less than the exotic and sold the mixture at the price of the best quality. But the consequence is that the character of the Sawginnod Dharwar is ruined for the time in the Liverpool market, the spinner finds it full of short broken fibre and waste and from being 6d. per lb. above Dhollera it has sunk to 2d. per lb.

Another most injurious admixture (though more frequently in the lot than in the bale) was that of Sind cotton or the produce of the Punjab which comes down the Indus and finds its outlet at Kurrachee, with the superior growths of Guzerat especially with Dhollera. The produce of Sind and the Upper Indus it is well known is very short in staple and intrinsically 2d or 3d below the value of good Dhollera. Of this inferior sort some 50,000 or 60,000 bales were sent to Bombay last year, and the bulk of it shipped to Liverpool under other names. Then again the weaker stapled cotton from the west coast of Guzerat, usually known as Poorbunder. Veravul, Mangrole, &c., was mixed up with parcels of Dhollera and most of it passed off as such. The soft weak stapled cotton of Khandeish was conjoined with the hard stapled Oomrawuttee and sold under that name, and some 2,000 or 3,000 bales of Sawginned Khandeish, about the poorest cotton in the Presidency disappeared under the title of Sawginned Dharwar. Indeed it is a well known fact that the poorer growths of cotton almost vanished from the Bombay market last year; by some mysterious alchemy well known to the native dealers, they were all transmuted into more reputable quality.

It is not likely, however, that the adulteration of cotton will again reach such a pitch as last year, the question is now engaging the anxious attention of the Government of Bombay, and various measures are under consideration for putting a stop to it. It is proposed to make the debasement of cotton by introducing foreign substance such as seed or dirt, a criminal offence, and many advocate the same measure in regard to the admixture of inferior with superior growths. A large party also are in favor of having a Government stamp affixed to all bales when they are pressed, certifying that the cotton is sound and unadulterated. The subject is surrounded by great difficulties owing to the complex network of private interests involved in the matter, but it is probable that some tolerably effective measure will be passed.

It may be added before quitting the subject that a principal reason of the excessive adulteration last year, was the extraordinary advance in price.

Many country dealers had made speculative contracts to deliver cotton at 150 to 200 Rs. trusting to buy in at a lower price as the time for delivery approached. When that time arrived the price in many cases had doubled and they could not provide the cotton they contracted for without enormous loss. As a natural consequence they made every effort to lessen that loss and one of their devices was to adulterate the cotton with seed and sand and so increase the weight at the expense of quality. The profits to the buyer in Bombay were so great that he was too glad to get the contract fulfilled without enquiring very narrowly into the quality, and when the cotton was too trashy to be taken, the European merchant was often met by the objection that no better would be given, and that if he resorted to legal proceedings the native dealer would declare himself bankrupt. In this way many of the contracts made for Fair Dhollera and Broach were filled by cotton on which 2d. per lb. allowance was made in Liverpool, and many others were cancelled by the buyer as the stuff offered was mere rubbish, and some pecuniary compensation, generally very inadequate was taken as a compromise.

It is plain, however, that this cause of adulteration is not likely to occur in such force again When prices begin to recede from a higher to a lower level the opposite tendency will come into play, for the contracts made in Bombay will be filled with lower priced cotton, and it will then be the interest of the dealer to supply the best quality possible so as to leave the buyer in Bombay no excuse for receding from his contract.

NEWS-LETTERS.

SALAR JUNG, THE NIZAM'S MINISTER.

SIR,—In the columns of your contemporary of the Times of India some letters have recently made their appearance conveying news from this part of the world, and though they are ostensibly News Letters, and from his "own correspondent," they scarcely veil the real object of the writer and his patrons, which is, while sounding the praises of the house of Shums-ool-Oomrah, to attempt to depreciate the character and administration of the Nizam's Minister Salar Jung. As, however, the value of either praise or blame is in the exact ratio of the estimation in which the dispenser of either is held, Salar Jung might very well afford to treat the effusions of this writer with the contempt they merit, and I dare say does so, but as the outside world can scarcely be cognizant of the true state of matters in this country, I shall endeavour to give you an insight into the character and motives of the writer and his clique, before I proceed to remark on the insinuations and slanders embodied in his letters.

The writer is known here to be an adventurer from Hindoostan, and some say he was specially invited here, but at all events he was employed, and is retained, by an old servant of the Shums-ool-Oomrah family, a Frenchman or Italian, of more zeal than discretion, for the purpose of inditing these letters, which the said foreigner cannot do himself. The value of the coin issued from such a mint cannot fail to be properly appreciated. The old nobleman, Shums-ool-Oomrah, has been gathered to his fathers, and his sons now reign in his stead, that is to say, two of them, the eldest his successor, and another who is the more stirring character of the two, and who is not unknown to the Government of India and to fame; the last occasion on which he figured before the public was in the matter of the fraud practised on him by an apothecary and his wife to the tune of a lac of rupees, under the pretence of obtaining for him, through the late Resident, the office held by Salar Jung as Prime Minister to the Nizam. This affair resulted in the interdiction to the Durbar, which the same writer notices when attributing to it the illness of the late Shums-ool-Oomrah, and he takes the opportunity of having a fling at the minister on this occasion also as the cause of his disgrace, although he had nothing whatever to do with it. It will be seen ere long whether the sons possess any portion of the wisdom of their father, and will tread in his steps on pursuing the ignus fatuus of a mistaken ambition, they will plunge into trouble.

The first letter which I wish to notice is not now before me, but I recollect his mentioning a marvellous case of murder by an Arab; but before its commission it appears "the murderer had his head knocked off by his victim."! and a case of outrage by a mad fakeer in the crowd which followed the kotwal proceeding to the "Kootba," when he takes occasion to remark, while anathematizing the kotwal, that he, the said kotwal was a relative of the minister Salar Jung. His reason for making this remark is obvious, but it would be well if "our own correspondent" of the Thunderer's namesake would pay a little regard to truth, which he might have obtained by the simplest enquiry, for every one here knows that the kotwal is no more related to Salar Jung than you or I, Mr. Editor. He should have informed his readers at the same time, that this kotwal is not a creature of the minister, but a nominee of the late Nizam himself.

The other letter on which I would make a few remarks is dated 12th March. I will not say a word in disparagement of the old nobleman, who is now gone to his final account, but you will see the anious of the writer creeping out even in the laboured eulogy of the charitable deeds of his late patron, which he ventures to contrast with those of the "Prime Minister Salar Jung, with his vast wealth and the vast resources of the country in his hands." I will not follow the example of this writer in blazoning forth the numerous acts of beneficence and sustained liberality which distinguished the character of Salar Jung; they are well known here and need no trumpets to proclaim them; but the vast wealth of Salar Jung of which the writer speaks is a myth, for he is by no means wealthy, and has not a hundredth part of the hoarded treasure possessed by the late Shums-ool-Oomrah and his family, and as to "the resources of the country," does the writer in his simplicity suppose that Salar Jung would apply any portion of those resources to any private purpose of his own. It betrays great ignorance of the minister's character to hazard an insinuation of this sort, for I can assert without fear of contradiction from any well informed person that never before has the administration of the Hydersbad country been in the hands of a minister of more scrupulous integrity in regard to the public finances.

But the greatest libel perpetrated by the writer is in the reason he assigns for the present scarcity. He attributes it to "sheer mismanagement on the part of the minister and from his establishing a sert of monopoly by farming out to the Sahookars and Bunneeahs the exclusive right of purchasing all the grain in the Nizam's country, and of selling it at whatever prices they liked!" Nothing can be further from the truth. As to the "mismanagement" I can only say that the writer in question is far from being qualified to pronounce an opinion; but with regard to the monopoly; this is a mere fiction, patent to all the dwellers in Hyderabad. The assistance given to grain dealers in procuring the means of transport, the suspension of all duties on grain, and other measures of similar nature, thoroughly refute any charges of the kind. Why if the Times of India's "own correspondent" himself is disposed to import grain and thus make a fortune in these hard times, I can assure him he will find every facility given him by the Government; and he will probably find it a better speculation than making unfounded charges against the Minister, who has difficulties enough doubtless to encounter, independent of those which a factious party may place in his way.

Hyderabad, 14th April. A. S. B.

KURRACHEE, 11*th April* 1863.

A TERRIBLE explosion occurred on the 27th ultimo in a powder factory at Hydrabad owned by one Adamjee Waljee, whereby 26 persons were killed, consisting of 10 men, 13 women, and 3 children. 25 bodies were found on the day of the disastrous occurrence, and one the day after. Of the former, 8 were found alive, but 4 of these died in the afternoon of the same day, 3 during the night, and 1 the following night. The ruins have all been dug up, and no more bodies have been found. The only persons writes the Deputy Collector, who escaped appear to be 5 young children belonging to the unfortunate women of the factory, who were playing outside when the explosion occurred, one of these, an infant of 10 or 12 months, has its back burnt, but is doing well. All who were within the factory, including the owner Adamjee himself, appear to have perished, but the houses and inhabitants of the neighbourhood and passers-by in the street, do not appear to have suffered any injury from the explosion. The statement of the owner and two ottfers, who could speak a little, was taken down before they expired; but they could give no other explanation of the explosion than that it was an accident. A female witness examined by the Inquest Committee states, however, that her sister, who was one of those found alive, told her it was caused by an accidental spark from one of the sulphur mills used in the factory. The Acting Magistrate, Major Phillips, stated as his opinion, that no evidence whatever was elicited at the Inquest, as to the cause of this deplorable accident, because all who were in the factory at the time were either killed, or were unable to assign any reason. It appears probable that the account given by the sister of one of the victims, viz., that a spark was thrown out from a sulphur mill, was the cause of the explosion. Adamjee, the owner of the factory, was regularly licensed.

It is indeed gratifying to learn that the Sind Railway Literary Institute is flourishing, a circumstance attributable to the unwearied interest taken in its affairs by the gentlemen composing the Railway staff. The second half-yearly meeting was held recently, when there was a numerous attendance on the occasion. The report was read, of which the following is a brief abstract:—The affairs of the Institute have during the last half year, gone on in a very gratifying and highly satisfactory manner. A considerable increase has taken place in the number of members, and the subscription list is in a very healthy condition. Since the last General Meeting, the whole of the books and periodicals then proposed to be added to the Library and Reading room, have been purchased, so far as the limited means at the disposal of the Committee would enable them to do so. They then advert to the great inconvenience arising from want of room in the present Reading room, which is, they have been given to understand, soon about to be obviated, the Railway Company having in the most liberal manner, commenced a very handsome building for the especial purposes of the Institute, which when completed will be brought with great advantage to the Members. The Books in the Library have had a very excellent circulation, most especially those treating on mechanical and scientific subjects; the News room has also had a very large and regular attendance. The Committee in conclusion, congratulate the Members on the very successful working of the Institute, and urge them to use their utmost endeavours to aid the newly chosen Committee to perfect still more the present highly satisfactory arrangements for the conduct of the Institution. The financial state of the Institute is all that can be desired. Thus we have an excellent Library stocked with good books for the intellectual recreation of our Mechanics, who are daily increasing in number; and it is to be hoped that in time, the Committee will be encouraged to introduce, by way of variety, lectures, literary soiries, &c. A Library for our Mechanics was much wanted in Kurrachee, and as it has now been supplied, the Members ought to support it, and endeavour to increase the stock of books by private contributions.

Last Sunday, says the Sindian, Kurrachee was startled by what at first seemed to be a succession of interminable minute guns, so slowly were they delivered. It was nothing worse however than a royal salute fired by the Curiew, a little war brig of 6 guns belonging to H. H. the Imaum of Muscat. On Monday morning the compliment was reciprocated on our side, but in a brisker way; also that the ship Poictiers which came in on the 1st instant, brought 50 tons of submarine cable for the Mekran Coast Telegraph line, which, she took down the coast some days before entering the port.—An examination of candidates to plead in the Courts of Sind, took place Monday and Tuesday before Messrs. Melville and Middleton, when out of six or seven applicants two only, Messrs. Lullobhoy and Ootamram, both belonging to Hydrabad, were declared duly qualified to plead. Last Saturday evening between the hours of 3 and 4 a serious affray occurred in which a Sindee seized several knife wounds on his person. It appears that some goats were grazing near the Pendalls, and the Sindee taking advantage of the temporary absence of the goatherd seized a goat and killed it, and was about taking the animal away when he was observed by the goatherd who laid hold of the thief and called out lustily for assistance. At this stage a native happened to pass the spot, when seeing the men scuffling, he laid hold of the knife, and inflicted several wounds on the Sindee. Policemen were soon after on the ground and took the men into custody. The Sindee was taken to the General Hospital, where, I hear, he is progressing favorably. Lieutenant Cruickshank, Engineer Corps, has been appointed to the Sind Circle. It is supposed he will have charge of the Mitrow Canal, which is now being extended to the Indian Ocean. The Sindian hears that Lieut. Ross of the Belooch Battalion will be appointed Political Resident on the Mekran Coast, his head-quarters being at Gwoder.

The Customs Authorities made a seizure the other day of some preserved meat, &c., of the value of Rs. 300 which had been landed from the ship Charlotte Jane, the same appearing to be in excess of the quantity entered in the Import Manifest.

The following provincial intelligence is supplied by the Police authorities and placed at the disposal of the local press by the orders of our excellent Commissioner. One Emam Bux Bhutti, of Mehur, in Upper Sind, committed suicide by hanging himself, in consequence of having detected an intrigue between his wife and one Juma Mochee. A woman wilfully set fire to a neighbour's house, in Shadadpoor, on the night of the 6th ultimo. She has been apprehended, and is to be brought to trial for the offence. The Captain of the Hydrabad Police reports having received, during the week ending the 16th ultimo, reports of 4 cases of snake bite, none of which had as yet proved fatal. The Thanadar of Morah reports that two boats laden with grain and ghee have been wrecked on the river, their cargoes proving a complete loss. Also, that, a boat laden with Cotton accidentally caught fire, and together with the cargo to the value of Rupees 1620-12, was destroyed. A woman aged 60 years, who was in the boat at the time, was burnt to death before assistance could be afforded. In the Sehwan districts, a woman, wife of Daim Mohana, attempted to commit suicide by hanging, but was cut down in time to save her life. She committed the act in consequence of her husband having contracted a second marriage.

No end to tragical occurrences! Here is another by way of finale.

A woman named Kundbhai, resident of the Hydrabad districts, committed suicide by hanging herself. On enquiry the following particulars came to light. A friendship had been carried on for about two years between a man of the Dhull tribe named Nooroo, and the deceased. Nooroo whose village was some distance off, used to go to and fro very often, but nothing for a time was thought of it, as the man was young and the woman pretty advanced in years, and destitute, doubtless, of any personal attractions. It, however, oozed out, as such things will, that these visits were not so innocent as at first supposed. Naroo was in consequence forbidden to enter her house, at which the fair one became exceedingly wrath, and finally, in a moment of despair at the loss of her paramour, put an end to her existence by hanging!

The weather here is becoming warmer every day. For the past few days it has been blowing pretty strong, throwing up dust in volumes. The early mornings are pleasant enough.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—By a private communication from Munmar, we received intelligence yesterday of a sad accident which occurred there on Wednesday last. It appears that Mr. Abbott and Mr. Stewart in the house of Messrs. Remington & Co. went out after black buck on Wednesday morning; and whilst Mr. Abbott was driving in a little hunting cart, holding his double-barrelled rifle in his hand, the jolting of the vehicle caused in some way the explosion of the caps, which sent the two rifle-balls through the body of his horse-keeper. The horse-keeper was sitting in front of Mr. Abbott, driving a pair of bullocks. The rifle was neither cocked nor half-cocked, but the hammers were down on the nipples, at the time the accident occurred. Mr. Stewart had just left on horseback for a friend's encampment, and was not present at the time of the sad occurrence. Mr. Abbott immediately sent for the Collector, Mamlutdar and other officers, that they might at once make an enquiry into the case. He was deeply distressed on account of the accident, and was doing every thing in his power to have the matter fully explained. The sad occurrence seems to have been purely accidental.

THE CONDITION OF SEAMEN.—CAPTAIN TOYNBEE'S PLANS.

A LETTER has been addressed to the Right Hon'ble the Lord Mayor of London, by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce forwarding two "Lectures on the present condition of Seamen and how it may be improved," by Captain Henry Toynbee, F.R.A.S., of the E. I. ship Hotspur.

Bengal Chamber of Commerce,
Calcutta, 21st March 1863.

To the RIGHT HON'BLE THE LORD MAYOR OF LONDON.

MY LORD,—The attention of the community of this City has been directed to the condition of the Merchant Seamen of Great Britain, and to the necessity which exists for improving it, by two lectures, which have been delivered in the Town Hall by Captain Henry Toynbee of the E. I. ship Hotspur, copies of which I have the pleasure to forward herewith. These lectures were very numerously attended, not only by the Commanders and Officers of ships and the public generally, but also by seamen, who appeared to be much interested in the movement and who loudly applauded the propositions placed before them.

These propositions are as follows:—

1st. The providing of homes for the wives and children of married seamen.

2nd. The establishment of a benefit fund for pensioning aged and decayed seamen.

To assist him in giving practical effect to these propositions, Captain Toynbee has appealed to the Commercial community of Calcutta, through this Chamber, the community here will gladly aid Captain Toynbee in his humane efforts to ameliorate the condition of this hardworking but too often improvident class of men, so far as lies in their power. As a preliminary measure they take the liberty of bringing the subject under your Lordship's notice, hoping that by your Lordship's influence, the subject may be so introduced to the English public as to command the success which it truly merits; and that it may lead to steps being taken to give effect at an early date to the propositions so strongly recommended by Captain Toynbee. The Committee will not dwell upon the miserable, and the demoralising consequences resulting from a want of respectable dwellings for the wives and families of absent seamen. The British Public, aided by that estimable lady Miss Burdett Coutts, are already providing dwellings for the wives of policemen and those who by the nature of their occupations are called from their Homes, but the Committee venture to remark not only will the families of seamen benefit, but great advance towards the moral improvement of the sailor will be gained by assuring to him, when absent, the comfort of his family. Further, the Committee believe that the demoralising scenes so often witnessed in foreign parts would greatly diminish.

It will be seen by Captain Toynbee's proposals that it is intended that these Homes for Seamen, should be in England; and it is thought that, beyond the amount required to start these Homes would be very nearly self-supporting by the subscriptions required from sailors who wish to benefit by them.

With the second proposal the establishment of a Benefit Fund for pensioning aged and decayed seamen, Captain Toynbee has drawn the attention to the Committee to the fact, that there is an amount of about £60,000 in the hands of the Trinity House, being the unclaimed wages of defunct seamen, and which would serve well as the nucleus of a Pension Fund. To any such Benefit Fund many sailors would subscribe through the Owners or Commanders of Ships, and the Committee think that an appeal should be made to sanction the contributions of all unclaimed wages in future to such a Fund.

In conclusion, while asking your Lordship to take an early opportunity of making this communication public, and thanking you for the advocacy which the Committee feel they thus bespeak, I am directed to mention that this Chamber has addressed the various Chambers of Commerce in Bombay, Madras, Ceylon, China, Australia, &c., requesting their hearty co-operation for the benefit of British sailors; and it will be highly gratifying to learn that the City of London is willing to take the initiative in a movement which promises so much good.—I have honor to be, &c.

H. W. J. WOOD, Secretary.

The Secretary to the Calcutta Chamber says in forwarding the above to the Bombay Chamber,—"The subject of their representation the Committee are confident will receive your attentive consideration, and they will be glad to be favoured with any suggestions you may be kind enough to offer with the view to promote the object of Captain Toynbee's most laudable endeavours."

The Sindian hears that Lieut. Ross of the Belooch Battalion will be appointed Political Resident on the Mekran Coast, his head-quarters being at Gwoder.

The Customs Authorities made a seizure the other day of some preserved meat, &c., of the value of Rs. 300 which had been landed from the ship Charlotte Jane, the same appearing to be in excess of the quantity entered in the Import Manifest.

The following provincial intelligence is supplied by the Police authorities and placed at the disposal of the local press by the orders of our excellent Commissioner. One Emam Bux Bhutti, of Mehur, in Upper Sind, committed suicide by hanging himself, in consequence of having detected an intrigue between his wife and one Juma Mochee. A woman wilfully set fire to a neighbour's house, in Shadadpoor, on the night of the 6th ultimo. She has been apprehended, and is to be brought to trial for the offence. The Captain of the Hydrabad Police reports having received, during the week ending the 16th ultimo, reports of 4 cases of snake bite, none of which had as yet proved fatal. The Thanadar of Morah reports that two boats laden with grain and ghee have been wrecked on the river, their cargoes proving a complete loss. Also, that, a boat laden with Cotton accidentally caught fire, and together with the cargo to the value of Rupees 1620-12, was destroyed. A woman aged 60 years, who was in the boat at the time, was burnt to death before assistance could be afforded. In the Sehwan districts, a woman, wife of Daim Mohana, attempted to commit suicide by hanging, but was cut down in time to save her life. She committed the act in consequence of her husband having contracted a second marriage.

No end to tragical occurrences! Here is another by way of finale.

MAZAGON POLICE OFFICE.—17TH APRIL.

ASSAULT.—Peerajee Manajee, late a Jemadar in the Police force, was brought up charged with assaulting Crustna Dadaram, a Police Havildar, while in the execution of his duty.

Mr. Judge appeared on behalf of the prosecution.

Dr. Reid defended the prisoner.

Crustna Dadaram examined by Mr. Judge stated,—I am a Police Havildar, on the twenty-eight February last I was acting Duftdari on that night about 1 o'clock I was at the Coombarwadda Chowkey, where a sepoy named Rama came to the Chowkey. He awoke me. In consequence of what he told me, I sent Rama and Havildar to Mr. Constable Wood. I followed them there; I did not follow them. I went to defendant Peerajee who was standing on the steps of his verandah. Ragoo sepoy was sitting on the road before his house. Ragoo sepoy complained that he had been seriously struck by defendant, and two or three others. I told Peerajee, "if you have struck the sepoy without provocation, come with me to the Constable's house." Defendant struck me with his fist on my chest three times. Other persons struck me and threw me down. I do not know their names. I have seen some of them here to-day. They then ran upstairs. A sepoy named Ibrahim came to my assistance. He came there after I had run upstairs. He came alone. He was followed by a sepoy named Rama. I was much hurt.

Cross-examined by Dr. Reid.—The people there did not accuse me and my brother Raojee with acting like gang robbers. I did not throw stones at Peerajee's windows. No stones were thrown in my presence. I did not throw any shoe at Peerajee. I did not take Peerajee to the Constable. I did not say Raojee my father was coming up. I went to defendant's house two or three days afterwards by order of the European Constable. This was at nine o'clock at night. Rama came there after the assault was over. Other witnesses saw the assault. One Suddoo was present when I was struck. No one came to my assistance. Mr. Wood came there at two o'clock and I told him what had occurred.

Suddoo Withoo examined by Mr. Judge, stated.—I was on Trimbuck Purusram Raod on the night of the twenty-eighth February last. I know defendant's house, I saw a disturbance there. I saw defendant strike the plaintiff. I did not see others strike the plaintiff. Complainant fell down in consequence of blows received on his chest. A crowd had collected there. I did not see any one else strike plaintiff. As I went there plaintiff came up to make enquiry. Peerajee then came up, and abused plaintiff, struck him with his fist three times and he immediately fell down.

Cross-examined by Dr. Reid,—When Peerajee struck plaintiff he fell. He was in the crowd, but I did not see any other person strike him. Plaintiff did not touch defendant. Peerajee came out of his house. I did not see his house.

Several other witnesses were examined on behalf of the prosecutor, but their evidence was shaken in cross examination.

On the case for the prosecution being closed, Dr. Reid addressed the Court and pointed out the numerous discrepancies in the evidence.

The Magistrate said that the evidence for the prosecution failed wholly to prove the charge against the defendant, and therefore discharged him.

BENGAL.

BY some hitch in the preliminary arrangements at Roorkee, we learn that Lord Elgin was detained there for two days for want of a sufficient number of coolies to take the baggage up to the Hills.—Englishman, April 9.

WE hear from Bundelcund, that, in consequence of the disturbed state of the district, government have placed a detachment of European troops at the disposal of the authorities.—Id.

WE are informed that, in consequence of disturbances at Saloomber, orders have been issued by the Governor General not to remove the European troops from Neemuch until tranquility is perfectly restored throughout the district.—Id.

YESTERDAY'S Gazette contained a notice calling upon all persons having claims against officers of extinct regiments, on account of messes or bands, to send in their applications. Lieutenant Perreau is the officer appointed to examine and pass the claims, and all applications for payment are to be addressed to that officer at the office of the Commissariat Examiner, No. 4, Middleton Row. Payment will only be made on the understanding that it is accepted as a full satisfaction of the whole claims, both against the regimental funds or property and the officers personally.—Id.

IF anything were required to convince sensible people of the wisdom of leaving to the Bengal Government the appointment of the Chairman of the proposed Municipality, it would be found in the remarks made in the Calcutta papers and in Calcutta society on the two vacancies in the local Council. Messrs. Bullen and Moran have resigned their offices on their departure for England, and Messrs. Claude Brown and Jennings have been asked to succeed them. It is unfortunately too true that the capital of India has never been so destitute of citizens who combine the three requisites for such an office—ability, high character, and public spirit. The able men lack the last qualification, and the public-spirited men have only too seldom the first. Moreover society is so very fluctuating that an attempt to leave patronage to a large body of Justices would probably end like democracy in America, in men at once able and honourable keeping aloof from public business. The truth is that the Bengal Council is little more than a vestry meeting, and so long as Sir C. Wood can forbid it even to discuss certain topics, it matters not who are its members. The Imperial Council is saved from the same character only by the importance of the subjects which come before it. But even that has lost its two most independent members, Messrs. Erskine and Roberts, who, in return for their defence of the Contract Law and opposition to Sir C. Wood's despotism, have been shelved as Her Majesty's Judges—the fate which seems to be now reserved for all independent and errant officials.—Friend of India, April 9.

SIND.

PROCEEDING TO ENGLAND.—Under instructions from Army Head Quarters, Captain Valentine and Lieut. Murray, H. M.'s 109th Regt. of Foot, are to proceed to Bombay for embarkation to join the Depot of the Corps in Cork.—Sindian, April 11.

A POLITICAL OFFICER FOR THE MEKRAN COAST.—We learn that under instructions frm Army Head Quarters, the services of Lieutenant Ross, Adjutant 1st Beloochi Battalion, are placed at the disposal of the Commissioner in Sind, for political employ on the Mekran Coast. Lieut. Ross's Head-Quarters, we understand, will be at Gwader.—Id.

HARBOUR WORKS.—We learn that Lieut. P. Phelps, Royal Engineers, now employed as Executive Engineer at Poona, and acting 1st Class Assistant Engineer has been appointed an Assistant to Mr. Price on the Harbour Works at this Port.—Id.

THE ROAD TO JERRUCK.—The Trunk Road leading from Kurrachee to Jerruck, from which attention has been withdrawn since the construction of the Scinde line of Railway, is of so much importance yet, that it has been determined to maintain it in good order by means of annual repairs. We are told also that branch roads will at once be constructed to connect it with the several railway stations along the line.—Id.

TROOPS TO BOMBAY.—The following detail proceeded to Bombay by the steamer Tilly on Thursday:—1 man, Royal Artillery, and wife, en route to settle in New Zealand; 1 man, 1st Battalion 7th Royal Fusiliers, for the Cape; 1 man, late ditto, transferred to 103rd Regt.; 2 men, 89th Regt., en route to settle in Australia; and the undermentioned conv

THE PASHA OF EGYPT AND THE PENINSULAR AND ORIENTAL COMPANY.

(From the Times, March 16.)

THE following Report has been forwarded to us for publication :—

"CAIRO, Feb. 20.

"Gentlemen,—I have the honour to report to you that your deputation, consisting of myself and Messrs. Allan and Olding, reached Alexandria in the Euxine on the 11th inst.

"Immediately upon our arrival we instructed Mr. Bethune (the Company's Superintendent) to communicate to the Government of His Highness the Viceroy the object of our visit, and to ascertain the pleasure of His Highness with regard to our reception.

"The answer received from Cairo was to the effect that, after our arrival at that place a day would be fixed for the interview, and we were at the same time required to state whether we sought an official or a private one. To this we replied by explaining the nature of our visit, leaving it to His Highness to decide whether he would receive us at his palace or at the citadel.

"Before leaving Alexandria we paid our respects to Mr. Colquhoun, Her Majesty's Consul-General, and requested him to present us, but were informed by him that, though nothing would have afforded him greater pleasure than do so, an engagement at Alexandria, which he could not defer, would prevent him from accompanying our party. He undertook, however, to mention our arrival, and the object of our visit, to His Highness, and recommended that as he had already presented Mr. Bethune to him he would be a fitting person to undertake that duty for us. We accordingly proceeded with him to Cairo on the 12th inst., His Highness having done us the honour to send one of his State carriages for our conveyance.

"Upon reaching Cairo we were informed that His Highness had decided (no doubt as a mark of honour to your body) to give us a public reception at the citadel, and that the day which he had fixed upon was Saturday, the 14th inst. At 1 o'clock on that day we accordingly waited upon His Highness at the place appointed, and were received by him in a most gracious, I might almost say cordial manner.

"After we had paid him the usual salutations, I read to him your address in English, and then handed it to Nubar Bey, his interpreter, who repeated it in Turkish. He listened to it with much apparent interest, at its close replying in a very lively manner as follows :—

"'That he was fully sensible of the courteous motives which had influenced the board of directors in sending out a deputation to convey to him the address of congratulation just read. He more highly appreciated the course which they had thus thought fit to adopt, because he was perfectly aware that they had taken the initiative in making Egypt the highway for the passenger and cargo traffic to the East, and that to them the country was in a great measure indebted for its present commercial relations with Europe and Asia. These relations, created and extended by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, had largely contributed to the development of the resources of the country which he had been called upon to govern, and to the prosperity of which he was resolved to devote all his efforts and energy. That in extending to the company assistance and protection he felt he should be best studying the interests of Egypt, and he might with the utmost assurance that the Government over which he presided would make it a duty to grant them every facility, which they might also depend upon receiving from himself personally. That the railway was not yet in the state of perfection which he could wish, but that the gentlemen of the deputation would, no doubt, concur with him in attributing this to the newness of the undertaking and understand that at the commencement of such operations complete satisfaction in all the working details could hardly be expected. He was determined however, to give his attention to that important enterprise, and to do all in his power to promote the comfort and rapidity of the transit. In conclusion, he begged to repeat that the company might always rely upon his support, and requested the gentlemen of the deputation to convey his best thanks to the Court of Directors for this mark of their attention.

"The above were, as nearly as we could recollect, the exact terms in which His Highness expressed himself, and I can only add, with reference to his mode of doing so, that it expressed even more eloquently than his words the good feeling which he entertains towards the company.

"I am, &c.,

THE CAMORRA OF NAPLES.

(From the London Athenæum, March 7.)

La Camorra : Notizie Storiche, Racoltee Documentate per cura di Marco Monnier, (Florence, Barbara.)

THE Camorra of Naples which, like cancer in the human frame, has for years been preying on the social body of the country, and sapping in secret its vital energies, has since the Revolution been disclosed to the world in all its loathsomeness, and never since the Middle Ages has the existence of so terrible an association been brought to light. A parallel to this cannot be found in the nineteenth century, in the midst of the high civilization of modern Europe, robbery and murder should have been reduced to an organized system, and that a secret society should have exercised a power in the Two Sicilies which defied all the ingenuity of the Government to detect or its power to suppress. Yet such has been the case. Every one intimately acquinted with the affairs of Naples knew it, and no one dared to oppose it. One of its mildest phases is exhibited in the following words : "The foreigner, or even the Italian, who until lately landed in Naples, was often surprised, on putting his foot on shore, at seeing a robust-looking man approach the sailor and secretly receive from him one or two grains. If the traveller cared to ask who was this collector, better dressed than the rest of the crowd, generally covered with rings and jewelry, who presented himself like a master, and without a word divided the price of the passage with the poor sailor,—he was answered, it is the Camorrista. The foreigner, in arriving at his hotel, preceded by a facchino with his baggage, ordinarily discovered a second collector equally mysterious and taciturn, who received a few grains from the facchino. If there were two facchini, each deposited a capper in the hand of the imperious unknown. And if the foreigner, after observing this second contribution, persisted in asking who the collector was, he was answered in the same words : it is the Camorrista."

This traveller leaves his hotel and enters a carriage. No sooner as he mounted, than a third individual starts up before the driver, who with determination puts a grain in his hand. Is this man too a Camorrista ? asks the traveller, more and more surprised at ever finding at his heels individuals who do nothing for him, and receive a portion of whatever he pays. And the driver answers sadly : it is the Camorrista. And if the stranger is not one of the travellers who believe that they know Naples after having seen the Museum, Vesuvius and Pompeii ; if taking note of men, he endeavours to study them in their daily life, at every step in the poor quarters of the city, at the railway stations, at the gates, in the markets and in the taverns, he will meet the impiacable bravo, who, with a ferocious eye and uplifted head, and wearing wide trousers, mixed in all the affairs and pleasures of the poor, especially their vicious pleasures and equivocal transactions. The writer then proceeds to examine what the Camorra is, and what is is organization, and incidentally shows how much the evil was promoted by a bad and negligent Government. The infant beggar unprovided with instruction became the little vagabond, the thief on a small scale, and some fair day awoke in prison. If a coward, he was thrown aside ; if courageous, he inspired to and obtained the honour of being associated with the Camorra. Before attaining however, the height of his ambition, he had to undergo many trials ana pass through several gradations. The Camorra was, therefore, respected and venerated in times when the right of the strongest only was admitted :—

"To become picciotto di sgarro, the noviciate must give proof of devotion and courage ; he must show that he can keep a secret and does not fear the knife. * * He offered himself to execute a sanguinary decree of the society, either to cut the face or, if necessary, to kill a man. When he was not ordered either to assassinate or gash the face, the candidate underwent the trial of the frata, which consisted in drawing the knife against a picciotto already received and drawn by lot* * On the first blood spilt, the combatants embraced one another, and the candidate was received as a novice. * * The picciotto underwent a novitiate of two, three, and sometimes six and eight years, during which he bore courageously the labours of the association without sharing in their profits. He generally belonged to a Camorrista who entrusted to him all his affairs, and give him, for charity, occasionally, a few grains. To the picciotto were assigned the enterprises the most dangerous and fatiguing, and he was always preferred for deeds of blood. * * When an assassination was ordered, all the picciotti offered to commit it ; and when completed, all assumed the responsibility of it and endeavoured to be arrested instead of the guilty one. In order not to create jealously, it was determined by drawing lots who should have the honour of committing a crime, and who should expiate it. The picciotto, favoured by fortune, gained sometimes ten years, and sometimes twenty years in irons : but he became a Camorrista."

The prisons were, and, we may add, still are, the principal centres of the Camorra ; and here, intermingled with religion in its grossest and most superstitious forms, were often perpetrated the most ferolous acts. Take one as a specimen, which was related by the man himself. It happened one day that a Calabrian priest, having been imprisoned for some affair of gallantry, was approached on his entering the prison by a Camorrista. The priest could not give a grain towards the oil for the lamp of Madonna because he had no money. The Camorrista then became irritated, and raised his stick. "Ah !" exclaimed the priest, who was a Calabrian, and therefore courageous, "you would not be so fierce if I had arms about me."—"There is no difficulty," replied his companion, touched in his honour, and immediately he went to the next room, where he asked his superior for two knives. It is necessary to say that in all prisons the society had a deposit of arms, so well concealed that the gaolers and superiors never discovered it. This deposit was called the pianta, and was always under the custody and the command of the chief. The members applied to him for knives when they had need of them, never carrying them in prison, for fear of being visited and deprived of them. The Camorrista then returned with two knives exactly alike ; offered one to the priest, and placed himself in an attitude of defence. We have said that the priest was a Calabrian, and, therefore, he was the more dexterous, and killed his adversary. Then only was he surprised by fear, because he felt himself doubly threatened, by the rigour of justice and the vengeance of the sect, and believed himself to be under a double sentence of death. To his great wonder, however, he escaped both dangers. Not only did the secret power mystify the matter, perhaps not to compromise itself, but the priest on lying down found in his bed a quantity of money ; it was his portion of the barottolo, which has been distributed to him as a new brother. From that day he received it weekly during the term of his punishment. On the entrance of Garibaldi into Naples this man was liberated, and, having been introduced to some English gentlemen as a liberal priest, told the anecdote.

Such facts were daily and hourly occurrence only a year since, and though an energetic Government has done much to destroy the evil, it still exists, and must exist until Southern Italy is regenerated, and law is executed and justice believed in. Persons in our own country who are unacquainted with the real difficulties which beset the honest reformer at every step, are too apt to prate about the state of the prisons, and complain of the little which has been done. Let them read the interesting book of Marco Monnier. Victor Emmanuel has undertaken a work which the Bourbons never dared, and, perhaps, never cared to undertake. An immoral government often employed the Camorra, but under the new régime no quarter has been given to it, and efforts have been made to extirpate a sect which has spread its ramification throughout the whole of Southern Italy, and which renders impossible all social progress. The book describes the internal organization of Camorra—the Camorra in the prison—Homicidal Camorra—the Camorra in the Piazza, Origin of Camorra,—its representation. Signor Marco Monnier is the author of 'L'Italie, est-elle la Terre des Mortis ?' and of 'Notizie Storiche Documentate sul Brigantaggio nelle Provincie Napolitane,'—works which are full of interest and which have gained for the writer a considerable reputation.
